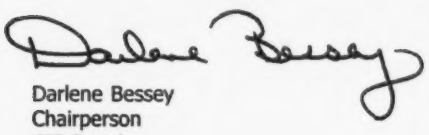
The Honourable Dustin Duncan
Minister of Tourism, Parks, Culture and Sport
Province of Saskatchewan

Dear Mr. Duncan:

In accordance with the Tabling of Documents Act, it is my pleasure to present to you, on behalf of the Board, the Annual Report of the Community Initiatives Fund for the period of April 1, 2009 to March 31, 2010.

Respectfully submitted,



Darlene Bessey
Chairperson
CIF Board

Message from the Chair and Executive Director

The Community Initiatives Fund (CIF) experienced a year of growth and expansion in 2009/10. The CIF not only increased the amount of funding granted to community organizations but also increased its capacity to manage and operate the fund by hiring its first Executive Director. The Board was pleased to welcome Tracey Mann to the role of Executive Director effective January 1, 2010. Tracey is respected in Saskatchewan and throughout the country for her expertise in granting processes and commitment to community. The Board looks forward to working with her in supporting the CIF to have an even greater impact in communities throughout the province.

In the spirit of partnership and collaboration, two key values of the CIF and pillars for organizational and community effectiveness, the Annual Report this year features a joint message from the Chair and the Executive Director.

The projects and services funded by the CIF provide many benefits to the citizens of our province. CIF programs are designed to enhance human development and community vitality in Saskatchewan communities. Funding received by community groups from the CIF often leverages additional funding from other sources, resulting in the development of strategic partnerships and greater collaboration amongst community groups in meeting identified community priorities. During the past year the CIF invested $6,926,565 through 440 grants to charitable and not for profit groups throughout the province. Some of the exciting initiatives undertaken by community groups are summarized in this report and reflect the commitment of hundreds of volunteers to the quality of life in their communities.

A significant highlight for the CIF during the past year was the completion of some very important research which will serve to inform our future work. Four surveys were undertaken provincially in partnership with the Ministry of Tourism, Parks, Culture and Sport. Three of the surveys were conducted to obtain the perspectives of various audiences on aspects of CIF programs. Audiences surveyed included Regional Intersectoral Committee and Urban Aboriginal Adjudication Committee members, CIF applicants, and municipal administrators.

In February 2010 results of the fourth survey, "Living in Saskatchewan Communities: A Quality of Life Study" were released. Conducted on behalf of the CIF Board by Insightrix Research Inc., the study was conducted with over 4,000 Saskatchewan households to understand Saskatchewan residents' perceptions of access to, and use of, programs and services in their communities. It was also designed to assess residents' perceptions of the quality of life in their communities.

Results of all four studies, including 10 regional reports for the Quality of Life Study, are available on the CIF website. Not only will the results inform future CIF funding and programming, but they are also intended to inform organizations, municipalities and community groups in planning for and delivering programs and services in their community or region. We hope that by sharing this research, the study will serve as a catalyst for collaborative dialogue and response to what residents have said about their communities.

The CIF is governed by a government appointed Board comprised of community volunteers. The Board makes all final grant adjudication decisions and works with a number of partners to facilitate open, competitive and inclusive grant application processes. Our Grant Review Partners, including the Regional Intersectoral Committees, Saskatchewan Parks and Recreation Association, Canadian Mental Health Association – Saskatchewan Branch, and Urban Aboriginal Committees in 14 communities are a valuable asset to the CIF and we thank them for their support and engagement.

We also wish to thank the Ministry of Tourism, Parks, Culture and Sport for their continued assistance throughout the past year and express our appreciation to Sask. Sport for its administrative and financial management services.

Our gratitude is extended to Arlene Janzen (White City) who completed her term on the Board in March, 2010. Arlene served during a significant period of change for the CIF and made a valuable contribution.

We are both very proud to be part of the CIF, and look forward to the year ahead working with the Board and our partners to support community groups and organizations striving to make a difference in their communities.

CIF in Action

CIF programs are designed to ensure Saskatchewan communities have access to tangible benefits through development opportunities for children, youth involvement, volunteer leadership and Aboriginal inclusion. The programs focus on prevention and early intervention, and on human development and community vitality, elements that foster enhanced quality of life for Saskatchewan people. Board members are committed to arms-length, community-based decision-making through open, competitive, inclusive grant application processes.

CIF programs are designed to enhance human development and community vitality in Saskatchewan communities. Their focus is to help build leadership capacity in youth and community volunteers for vibrant and healthy communities. CIF programs include the Urban Aboriginal Grant Program, the Physical Activity Grant Program, the Problem Gambling Prevention and Treatment Grants and the Community Grant Program. These programs are designed to complement regular sources of community income, leverage other funding partners and typically help finance time-limited, results-oriented, charitable community organizations. Many of these organizations work in partnership with youth or with other health or educational institutions as they strive to enhance their communities. Although most program adjudication is sub-contracted by the CIF, this Board makes all final grant decisions related to CIF programming. This approach helps ensure CIF funds are responsive to community priorities.

Development Opportunities for Children, Youth and Families

Heritage Community Association – Misatim Mânokçwin First Nations Cultural and Spiritual Horse Program

A grant of $24,450 was awarded to the Heritage Community Association for the Misatim Mânokçwin First Nations Cultural and Spiritual Horse Program, which took place in May and June. The equine-assisted learning program consisted of one-day and two-day overnight camps designed to instil qualities such as trust, respect, assertiveness and impulse control in at-risk youth. Horses hold a special place in First Nations culture, and since most participants were of Aboriginal ancestry, the equine activities provided a culturally appropriate medium for growth and development.

While at camp, the participants were responsible for the daily care of their horses, including grooming, feeding and exercise. The objective of this hands-on interaction was to teach youth responsibility and respect for fellow creatures, cooperation, confidence, and patience, as well as to enhance social and communication skills. Working with horses also provided the opportunity for participants to overcome their fears and form unique and rewarding bonds.

Prince Albert Outreach Program Inc. – Young Won-Ska Project

The Prince Albert Outreach Program Inc. received a $25,000 CIF grant to support its Young Won-Ska Project. The project targeted at-risk youth between the ages of 11 and 15 who were not attending traditional school and typically displayed some or all of the following traits: gang affiliation, unsupervised home life, involvement with drugs, and an inability to benefit from a regular classroom. The program ran Mondays through Fridays, and participants have been referred by schools, parents, and fellow students.

The Young Won-Ska Project incorporates academics, life skills, counselling, culture, health, and physical activity into a structured environment for youth in Prince Albert. This year participants also got to write and produce a radio commercial for a new outreach program called "Youth on Fire." The objective of Young Won-Ska is to get adolescents off the streets while providing a flexible yet structured routine to meet their individual needs. The project began in January 2009 and most of the 25 students displayed high attendance and improved engagement.

Southeast Early Childhood Development Committee – My Baby's Story: A Prenatal Keepsake

A $17,500 development opportunity grant was awarded to the Southeast Early Childhood Development Committee to help fund the production of My Baby's Story: A Prenatal Keepsake. This prenatal calendar will be distributed year-round to expectant mothers. It is a free resource that provides women with information about prenatal growth and development, nutritional and environmental tips, appointment management, space to record memories, and tools to increase the chance of bearing healthy babies.

My Baby's Story will potentially benefit all expectant mothers and their families in the Southeast Region, where as many as 2,000 babies are born each year. The calendar will be available to expectant mothers from a variety of health professionals, as well as to young people through Psychology 30 classes. Since it is available to a culturally and socio-economically diverse population, My Baby's Story expresses a real commitment to equal knowledge and health for women and babies of all backgrounds.

Increased positive activities for young people at the local level, including physical activity, arts and cultural activity

Moose Jaw Parks and Recreation Advisory Board – Youth Community Gym Nights

The Moose Jaw Parks and Recreation Advisory Board was given a grant of $10,800 to host Youth Community Gym Nights on Friday evenings throughout the 2009-10 school year. The program used school facilities to provide drop in activities and games for socially and economically disadvantaged youth between the ages of 11 and 18. Gym Nights offered a safe environment where young people with limited opportunities could relax, stay active, and have fun at no cost.

Youth Community Gym Nights promoted socialization and friendship among at-risk youth in Moose Jaw. The program was a positive alternative which helped young people develop confidence and learn about health and wellness. Activities such as pick-up basketball, badminton, and soccer games were scheduled and organized at the request and interest of attendees to meet their needs, and the program emphasized positive attitudes rather than participation.

Pahkisimon Nuye?áh Library System – Boreal Forest Storytelling Tour

The Pahkisimon Nuye?áh Library System received an $8,100 CIF grant for the Boreal Forest Storytelling Tour, which took place at several schools in October and November 2009. This cultural event used the tradition of Aboriginal storytelling to increase cultural and educational involvement in isolated communities, while providing information about Saskatchewan's northern boreal forests.

This type of outreach is important in northern communities with high First Nations populations because it established the importance of storytelling to protect cultural, social, and personal values. The Boreal Forest Storytelling Tour also provided a creative and unique medium to teach children about their immediate surroundings, and environmental issues such as deforestation. Presentations have been well-received by teachers and students.

Réseau Santé en Français de la Saskatchewan Inc. – Starting Young: The Implementation and Evaluation of an Early Years Physical Activity Resource

A grant of $61,300 was awarded to Réseau Santé en Français de la Saskatchewan Inc., an organization focused on the promotion, protection, and enhancement of French-language health services in Saskatchewan. The money will be used for the Implementation and Evaluation of an Early Years Physical Activity Resource. This 17-month long program was designed to understand and increase the physical activity levels of preschool children, for both Francophone and Anglophone populations.

Early activity is important for building foundations of health and well-being, yet research suggested that young children in Canada are not active enough. Thus, Réseau Santé en Français de la Saskatchewan Inc. will evaluate the effectiveness of an early years activity program. The Early Years Physical Activity Resource focuses on three- and four-year-old children in daycare settings. Its main objective is to create an evidence-based resource to increase the capacity of families and daycare workers to facilitate physical activity among preschoolers.

Increased community leadership capacity, particularly leadership opportunities for youth

Melfort Youth Initiative Leadership Team – Melfort Youth Initiative Project

CIF awarded a $20,000 grant to the Melfort Youth Initiative Project, which operated throughout the 2009-10 school year. The purpose of the project was to provide free programs and events to Melfort youth in the areas of social recreation, sport, culture, and leadership development. The goal of the Melfort Youth Initiative Project is to improve the quality of life for young people and their families regardless of gender, race, or socio-economic status.

Grant money has been used towards activities such as camping trips, dances, yoga classes, creative writing clinics, skill development workshops, street hockey, jam bands, and movie nights. These activities were designed to promote equality and participation, as well as to teach positive values and social skills.

Midwest Food Resource Project Inc. – Community Food Security Advisory

The Midwest Food Resource Project Inc., whose mandate is "healthy food for all," received a $15,700 grant from CIF to fund the Community Food Security Advisory project. The advisory was established in response to growing requests for partnerships between Midwest Food Resource Project Inc. and communities in the northwest region of Saskatchewan. It promotes food security and sovereignty through community involvement.

The Community Food Security Advisory hosted monthly potluck meals in four different locations. The meals were used as a platform to discuss food and food security in the community, and everyone was welcome. By using a public forum, the advisory made the issue of sustainable food security the shared responsibility of the community, and the success of the program can be measured not only in terms of how many people attend the potlucks, but also by the number of projects which developed from community discussions during meals.

Family Resource Centre – Rural Parent Education/Education

A $12,500 grant was awarded to the Family Resource Centre for its Rural Parent Education/Education program, which provided information about services available in the Sturgis, Preeceville, Endeavour and Canora regions. The centre has evolved into a well-known information hub, contacted by residents who want to know about services at the Family Resource Centre and in the community in general. Initiatives organized by Family Resource Centre often target youth and family well-being, and grant money is used to produce and distribute resources.

Some of the activities currently offered by the education program include student leadership classes, Filling the Gap, Hot Lunch Program in schools, and information coordination.

Inclusion of First Nations and Metis people as leaders in the planning and/or delivery of community activities

White Buffalo Youth Lodge, Urban First Nations Services Inc. – Our Culture, Our Future

White Buffalo Youth Lodge, Urban First Nations Services Inc., was awarded a grant of $14,000 for the year-long Our Culture, Our Future program in Saskatoon. The program delivered cultural knowledge to Aboriginal youth living in urban settings, where it can be difficult to maintain traditional beliefs and practices. The Our Culture, Our Future project gave youths and elders the opportunity to experience their rich cultural history in a participatory and educational setting.

Participants engaged in weekly traditional activities such as smudging, circles, art, song, and dance. They also participated in special events including feasts, round dances, and ceremonies. Teachings used a holistic approach to influence the lives of participants and their communities in emotional, spiritual, mental and physical capacities. Participants also attended events for other cultural groups to experience diversity and learn respect for others. The Our Culture, Our Future program targeted primarily at-risk youth between the ages of six and 16.

Wakamow Aboriginal Community Association – Aboriginal Culture Mentorship Program

The Wakamow Aboriginal Community Association in Moose Jaw was granted $8,000 for its Aboriginal Culture Mentorship Program. The program strives to reduce barriers for youth and teaches them about the traditional and cultural aspects of Aboriginal life.

Working mostly with at-risk youth who struggle to fit into society, the Aboriginal Culture Mentorship Program helped young people (both Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal) connect with Aboriginal roots in the Moose Jaw area. The program helped them to understand their cultural history through ceremonial traditions such as sweats, talking circles, camps, and dance and drum groups. The program focused on spirituality and relationships with nature to teach youth confidence and positive life skills. It also provided continuous opportunities to connect with Aboriginal culture, as "graduated" participants can, in turn, become mentors for their younger peers.

Piwapan Women's Shelter – Domestic and Family Violence Awareness Project

A $25,000 grant was awarded to Piwapan Women's Shelter for the Domestic and Family Violence Awareness Project. Located in La Ronge, Piwapan Women's Shelter provides emergency services for women and their families in several northern Saskatchewan communities where literacy rates are low. The Saskatchewan Native Theatre Company was contracted to produce a theatrical display and performance to convey important messages about domestic violence that may not be understood when printed.

The play was delivered in three communities served by Piwapan Women's Shelter, and was fashioned to draw attention to the severe consequences of physical, emotional and sexual acts of violence committed against women in the region. Information about services and resources available to women in violent situations was also provided. By using the unthreatening medium of theatre, the Domestic and Family Violence Awareness Project was able to connect with a broader audience about a grave issue faced by members of their communities.

Notes to Financial Statements - March 31, 2010

1. Nature of operations:

The Community Initiatives Fund (the "Fund"), previously known as the Associated Entities Fund, was established on August 23, 1996 by The Saskatchewan Gaming Corporation Act. It is managed by a Board consisting of eight people appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. The Board is responsible for managing and operating the Fund.

Pursuant to The Saskatchewan Gaming Corporation Act, the Government of Saskatchewan receives, into the General Revenue Fund, certain gaming revenues. The Minister of Finance transfers a portion of these gaming revenues to the Fund. The Board of the Fund grants these revenues to persons, organizations or associations in Saskatchewan for purposes prescribed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council upon application to and approval by the Board.
